Team Science
SEMINAR SERIES

Shaun P Brothers, Ph.D.
Associate Professor, Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, University of Miami Miller School of Medicine

Director, Molecular Therapeutics Shared Resource, Sylvester Cancer Center

The Reality of Drug Discovery In Academia

There is a significant opportunity to discover and develop drugs in an academic setting, from target identification all the way through clinical trials. This opportunity provides a number of different challenges and opportunities compared to industry. We will discuss some of these ideas in an attempt to shed light on the advantages and disadvantages of working on developing drugs in academia.

www.miamictsi.org